- degree (Diplom/Master) in life sciences (Biology, Biochemistry, Molecular Medicine or equivalent)
- specific knowledge in tumor biology und experience in methods of cellular and molecular biology desirable
- experience in bioinformatics beneficial
- curiosity and passion for cancer research
- ability to learn new methods as well as to independently plan and carry out experiments using established methods
- ability to work in a team with diverse backgrounds
- high degree of responsibility for the progress and quality of the project
- solid language skills both in written and spoken English

We offer:

The project work and doctoral thesis are carried out in a young team in an atmosphere driven by scientific curiosity and quality. It is embedded in a setting of high scientific competency, structured teaching, short lines of communication and flat hierarchy. For all planned work, the necessary equipment and methods are available and established.

Seminars, lab meetings und journal clubs are regularly performed. Participation in Graduate programs of the Medical Faculty are encouraged and supported.

The Martin-Luther-University Halle-Wittenberg gives priority to applications from severely disabled candidates with equivalent qualifications. Women are particularly encouraged to apply.

Applicants with a degree that was not obtained at a German higher education institution must submit a Statement of Comparability for Foreign Higher Education Qualifications from the Central Office for Foreign Education (Zentralstelle für ausländisches Bildungswesen) to prove equivalence.
